A Plaut Mosquitoes Avoid.

The name of the castor oil plant is not especially suggestive of pleasant things, yet the plant has many excellent qualities, out of which is that it is decidedly ornamental. It grows to a height of four or five feet in temperate climate, but becomes really a tree in warm latitudes and is extremely graceful in form. A more practical merit is the fact that the odor, although not disagreeable to lumman beings, drives mosquitoes and other insects from its vicinity. This makes it a valuable veranda plant, and in Maracai-

You Do, or You Don't Need Glasses. :

The eye being a rather delicate organ, great care should be exercised in the selection of proper glasses, Many believe that glasses should be restored to only when the sight becomes so defective as not to be able to do without. This is a great mistake which must be combatted. Whenever there is unmistakable evidence of the need of their aid, they should be used. A neglect of this rule sometimes produces mischief which results in serious trouble if the course be persisted in. Our Dr. C. H.
